Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the following questions.

Energy is an important part of modern life. We use it to light our homes, operate machines, and travel from one place to another. Today, most countries still rely on non-renewable sources like coal, oil, and gas. These fuels are effective, but they are limited and create serious pollution.

For this reason, many nations are moving toward renewable energy. Sources such as solar power, wind energy, and hydroelectricity can be naturally renewed and will not run out. They also cause less pollution. However, building solar panels and wind farms can be costly and requires large areas of land.

Scientists are also exploring new energy options, including nuclear power and hydrogen fuel. Nuclear energy can produce a large amount of electricity, but it must be managed carefully to prevent accidents. Hydrogen fuel is clean and efficient, but it is still expensive to develop and use.

In the future, people will likely depend on a combination of energy sources. By using energy wisely and improving technology, we can protect the Earth while still meeting our daily energy needs.

Question 22. What is the main idea of the passage?

- A. How fossil fuels cause pollution.
- B. Ways to produce renewable energy sources.
- C. Why countries prefer non-renewable energy sources.
- D. Different energy sources and their future use.

Question 23. The word "limited" in paragraph 1 is OPPOSITE in meaning to _____.
